My Mother.

Oh! how I loved her! though my heart
At times resisted her control;
In every dearest wish and thought
She reigned the idol of my soul.
I grew beside her, year by year,
Graceful she said, and fair and tall—
Her words to me were sweet and dear,
And memory's leaf retains them all.

Oh! how I loved her! soft her smile
Shone all along the flowery way
O'er which I bounded on, the while,
Thoughtless of death or of decay.
Her bosom was my place of rest,
Her arms my refuge sure and dear;
Her voice could always soothe me best,
Her kiss could banish grief and fear.

Oh! how I loved her! heart to heart
And hand to hand she bore me on
Guarding from life's every smart,
Until her own young life was gone.
One day she drew me to her breast,—
Her cheeks were white, her look was wild.
Pale lips to mine she fondly pressed,
And whispered, "We must part, my child"

Her words went crushing through my brain,
Went cleaving through my quivering heart;
And then like death in every vein,
Throbbed that dread sentence, "We must part."
Oh bitterest grief at childhood's years!
Oh! hour of blackness, wrath and death!
Bitterly drenched and choked with tears,
Wild with vain cries, and pleading breath.

My mother's presence was to me
Like sunshine in a dreary land;
What cooling water springs would be
To one on Afric's burning sand.
Oh! how I loved her! love her yet—
Though from her grave a wanderer, far,
My mother I do not forget;
Her love is still my guiding star.

I long for her and love her now,
When childhood, hope and youth are fled,
And when her kisses warmed my brow,
As when she held my youthful head.
And when the earth is heaped above
My head, and o'er my heart is piled,
If spirits live and spirits love,
My mother shall embrace her child.

General Jackson's Noble Wife.

Many of our public men have been blessed with wives and mothers who were the ornaments of their sex, and by their quiet and ennobling influence contributed largely to the subsequent greatness of their children and husbands. Mr. Parton tells the following story of Gen. Jackson's wife.

When Gen. Jackson was a candidate for the Presidency in 1828, not only did the party opposed to him abuse him for his public acts, which, if unconstitutional or violent, were a legitimate subject of reprobation, but they defamed the character of his wife. On one occasion a newspaper published in Nashville was laid upon the General's table. He glanced over it, and his eyes fell on an article in which the character of Mrs. Jackson was violently assailed. So soon as he had read it he sent for his trusty old servant Dunwoodie.

"Saddle my horse," said he to him in a whisper, "and put my holsters on him." Mrs. Jackson watched him though she heard not a word, she thought she saw mischief in his eyes. The General went out, after a few moments, when she took up the paper and understood everything. She ran out to the south gate of the yard of the Hermitage, by which the General would have to pass. She had not been there more than a few seconds before the General rode up with the countenance of a madman. She placed herself before his horse, and cried out: "O, General, don't go to Nashville! Let that poor editor live. Let that poor editor live."

"Let me alone! he replied; "how came you to know what I am going for?"

She answered, "I saw it all in his paper after you went out; put up your horse and go back."

He replied furiously, "but I will go—get out of my way!"

Instead of doing this she grasped the bridle with both hands.

He cried to her, "I say, let go my horse; I'll have his heart's blood—the villian that reviles my wife shall not live."

She grasped the reins but the tighter, and began to expostulate with him, saying that she was the one who ought to be angry, but she forgave her persecutors from the bottom of her heart, and prayed for them—that he should forgive, if he had hoped to be forgiven. At last, by her reasoning, her entreaties and her tears, she so worked upon her husband that he seemed mollified to some extent. She wound up by saying: "No, General, you shall not take the life of even my reviler—you dare not do it, for it is written, 'Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord!'"

The iron nerved hero gave way before the earnest pleading of his beloved wife, and replied:

"I yield to you; but had it not been for you, and words of the Almighty, the wretch should not have lived an hour."

DOSH AND HIS ROOSTER.—In the next issue after the reception of the eastern election news, Gen. Dosh, of the Shasta Courier, inverted his rooster, and that gay old Democratic bird lay sprawling on his back, spurring the air, and gasping—'We have met the enemy and we are his'n?'

This reminds us of a story at the expense of an individual from the "ould counthry," who became the possessor of a game cock. In the neighborhood of our Hibernian friend lived a Yankee, who prided himself on his breed of chickens, and after due course of bantering, a fight was arranged, with the following result:

First Round—Yankee cock down. (Irishman hurrahs.)

Second Round—Yankee cock down again.—(Irishman—hurra'! hurra'!)

Third round—same result. Yankee cock evidently "gone up." (Irishman enthusiastically yelling and hurrahing!)

Fourth round—Yankee cock revives, and by a scientific flutter, drives his "gaff" entirely through Irish cock's head, whirling him on his back, and making him a "dead cock in the pit." (Yankee—hurrah! h-u-r——)

Before he could get out the second cheer, our Irishman seized him by the throat, exclaiming:

"Be jasus, now, whichever cock bates, let there be no hurra'ing!"

"Don't you see"—the point?—Trinity Journal.

MISNAMED.—Some things come by odd names. The most uncommon quality in man is called "common sense;" a paper half a mile long is a "brief;" and a melancholly ditty, devoid of sense or meaning, is a "glee."

The Midnight Banquet.

We do not know to whose kindness we are indebted, says the Knickerbocker, for the startling and spirited sketch, entitled as above: but this we do know, that he cannot write to us, nor for us, too frequently to be always most cordially welcome:

"In the very heart of the city of Paris stands a strange and gloomy-looking building. Its style of architecture is mixed; parts of it reminding one of the middle ages; later additions bearing the style of later years.

"Of all Paris prisons this is the gloomiest—this is the Conciergerie. What a host of victims are brought before our minds by the mention of this one word 'Conciergerie!' It is the oldest of all the prisons. Turn over the leaves of its ancient entry book, and you will find page after page of its records made illegible. Till at length our eyes discern this record of Ravaillac, dated May sixteen, 1610. And here is his sentence: 'To be conducted to the Place de Grève, and there upon the scaffold to have his breast and arms, thighs and calves of his legs lacerated with red-hot pincers; his right hand, which had held the knife which he had committed the said 'parricide,' to be burned off in a fire of sulphur; and into all his wounds to be thrown melted lead, boiling oil, burning pitch, and wax and sulpher mingled.—This done, his body to be drawn and dismembered by four horses, and afterward consumed by fire, and his ashes thrown to the winds!'

"And now, as we turn page after page, we can clearly read names of illustrious men and beautiful and innocent women. Here the name of Louis the Sixteenth, and there that of Marie Antoinette.

"It is a remarkable fact that Louis the Sixteenth was the first monarch who really interested himself in the improvements of prisons.

"A little farther on, and twenty-five illustrious names are grouped together. Vergniaud's heads the list, and with his name we call to mind the reign of Jocobin fury, and destruction of the Girondists. How much of the history of Paris is written in her prisons! What strange scenes have these walls witnessed! If 'the stone could cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the timber could answer it,' would not our lips turn pale, and our blood run cold, at the terrible recital of mortal suffering?

"The cells of the Girondists remain just as they were left on the execution morning. The walls are covered with writing, but the writing is not with ink. It looks veyy much like blood; and drawing nearer, we find it even so, and read with interest sentences like these: 'True liberty is that of the soul.' 'Even God may look with pleasure upon a brave man struggling against adversity.' 'The day is not more pure than my heart.' And here is one in larger letters and bolder hand; it is Vergniaud's own, written with the blood; 'Death is preferable to dishonor.'

"It was mid night of October Thirtieth, 1793, when the little band of patriots were led from their mock trial back to their gloomy cells. To give the death blow to this party, thirty of the most illustrious had been arrested. Five made their escape, but the others scorned flight, and resolved to meet death with the unflinching fortitude which they had displayed through all their dangers. Weary months were spent in prison, till their prison garments were all in tatters, and their long beards and tangled hair hung about their haggard faces.

"At length the time of their trial draws near.—It is but a mock trial, yet there lingers in the breasts of some of them a faint hope of pardon—oh! how faint! It is only the last flickering of hope before it dies out forever.

"'Guilty!' is the verdict upon them all. As the fatal sentence is pronounced, Valazé draws a little dagger from his breast, and plunging it into his heart, falls lifeless to the ground. His companions gather around him; some almost frantic, some strangely calm—all of them pale as death.

"The sentence goes forth, that the lifeless body shall be taken back to prison with his companions, and on the morrow be carried to the scaffold, where the cruel axe shall fall upon the cold, still neck, that his enemies may have their full triumph, and satisfy their fiendish hate. Vergniaud refuses to take the poison secretly conveyed to him by his friends, choosing rather to follow his brave companions.

"Mid-night in the Conciergerie!—dark, silent, cheerless as the grave! Here and there a prisoner waits and listens anxiously for the return of the doomed. Soon their voices are heard, and the grand notes of the Marseillaise echo through the long corridors like a funeral dirge. The prisoners start from their sleep; hope dies within them; for this is the signal agreed upon if condemnation is passed. Many a wretched man presses against the grating of his cell door to take his last look and bid farewell to his patriot friends.

"And now a strange scene is enacted, which is transmitted to us by the Abbé Lambert, who came to administer to them the consolations of religion. Through the half-opened door he watches their every look and action, and records their words. The oaken tables is covered with a rich cloth. Servants hurry in and out, bearing lights and rich dishes, and beautiful flowers! In a few moments a rich banquet is before them. This feast has been prepared by a wealthy friend who was concealed in Paris, and who knew not whether it would be a joyful banquet or a feast of death. It is the feast of death, and Death itself is there! Valazé's corpse lies on the floor.

"How the lights flickers upon these haggard faces as they gather around the table! They nerve themselves to calmness; some even jest and sing and raise the loud laugh. Fearfully the laugh echoes from the naked walls, sending a thrill of horror even to the heart of him who raised it.

"As the costly dishes are carried from the room, and wine and flowers alone grace the table, the doomed to die turn to one another for support.—'What shall we be doing to-morrow at this time?' says one. 'Sleeping the sleep that knows no waking,' answers a clear, firm voice. A moment's pause, during which those who have called cold philosophy to their aid, sit calm and unmoved; and then a deep voice breaks the silence. 'No! no! annihilation is not our destiny. We are immortal.—These bodies may perish. These living thoughts, these boundless aspirations, can never die. To morrow, far away in another world, we shall think, and feel, and act, ond solve the problems of the immaterial destiny of the human mind.' The song is hushed; forced laughter dies away. The beating of the heart can almost be heard, as it strikes against its prison walls, and pants for immortality.

"The grey light of morning struggles through the grated window. Exhausted they sink upon their beds and sleep. 'For why,' says one, 'should we lose one hour of sleep in regretting the loss of such a trifling thing as life? Let us sleep till we are called to go forth to our last sleep.' Some weep, others sleep.

"Five carts stand waiting for them in the prison yard. The crowd press upon them, as one after another they come forth to meet death. In the last cart four of the living are placed with the dead body of Valazé.

"On their way to the scaffold they chant the 'Marseillaise,' not like a funeral dirge, but like a song of triumph. The song ceases for a moment while they take one long farewell embrace at the foot of the scaffold, and then the strain continues. The bloody axe silences voice after voice, till one remains—it is Vergniaud's. Singing as he goes, he ascends the scaffold; a moment more and his voice is hushed forever."

....He that borrows, binds himself with a neighbor's rope.

Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal.

BY ALFRED TENNYSON.

Now sleeps the crimson petal, now the white;
Now waves the cypress in the palace walk;
Now winks the goldfin in the porphyry font:
The firefly wakers, waken thou with me.

Now droops the milk white peacock like a gpost.
And like a ghost she glimmers unto me.
Now lies the earth all Dense to the stare,
And all thy heart lies open unto me.

Now slides the silent meteor on, and leaves
A shining furrow, as thy thoughts in me.
Now folds the lily all her sweetness up,
And slips into the bosom of the lake;
So fold thyself, my dearest, thou, and slip
Into my bosom and be lost in me.

The Baby is Dead.

Gather pale flowers, a spirit, has fled;
Twine cypress garlands, the baby is dead!
Fold the white fingers, close the soft eyes.
Angels have carried the gem to the skies.

Sadly and mournfully walk to and fro,
Cover the statue face, whiter than snow,
Place the wee coffin 'neath the damp sod,
Leave the dear lamb with its Shepherd and God.

Oh! the lone hearth-stone! no light is there!
Meekly the broken band bend low in prayer;
Oh! the dark void! the mournful tears shed!
The meal passed in silence—the baby is dead!

Lock up the "coaties," put up the crib,
Fold the woe stockings, the blanket and bib;
Little "odd tea spoon," dainty tin cup,
Rattle-box, earthern dog—put them all up!
Go and plant flowers, dewy tears shed
On the small earth mound—the baby is dead!

The Death Warrant of Our Lord.

"Chance," says the Courier des Etats Unis, "has just put into our hands the most imposing judicial document to all Christians that has ever been recorded in human annals," that is the identical death warrant of our Lord Jesus Christ. The document was faithfully recorded in these words:

Sentence rendered by Pontius Pilate, acting Governor of Galilee, stating that Jesus of Nazareth shall suffer death on the cross!

In the year seventeen of the Emperor Tiberius Cæsar, and the 27th day of March, in the city of the Holy Jerusalem—Anna and Caiphas being priests, sacrafiscators, of the people of God—Pontius Pilate, Governor of Lower Galilee, sitting in the Presidential chair of the Prætory, condemns Jesus of Nazareth to die on the cross between two thieves—the great and notorious evidence of the people saying:

1. Jesus is a seducer.
2. He is seditious.
3. He is the enemy of the law.
4. He calls himself falsely the Son of God.
5. He calls himself falsely the King of Israel.
6. He entered into the temple, followed by a multitude bearing palm branches in their hands.

Orders the first Centurion Quilius Cornelius, to the place of execution.

Forbids any person, whomsoever, either rich or poor, to oppose the death of Jesus Christ.

The witnesses who signed the condemnation of Jesus, are:

1. Daniel Robini, a Pharisee.
2. Joanus Robani.
3. Raphael Robani.
4. Capet, a citizen.

Jesus shall go out of Jerusalem by the gate of Struenus.

The above sentence was engraved on a copperplate; on one side is written these words: "a similar plate is sent to each tribe." It was found in an antique vase of white marble while excavating in the city of Aquila, in the Kingdom of Naples, in the year 1810, and was discovered by Commissioners of Arts of the French armies. At the expedition of Naples it was inclosed in a box of ebony, as the sacristy of the Charte.

The French translation was made by the Commissioners of Arts. The original is in the Hebrew language.

Warm Bath.

We heard a funny story, located in a bath-room, not far off. Smith was a man who never permitted himself to be outdone—he could do whatever any body else could Smith met Brown in a bath-room, and Brown knowing the other's peculiar conceit, said that he (Brown) could endure a hotter bath than any living man. Thereat Smith fired up, and a bet was made. Two bathing tubs were prepared with six inches of cold water in each. The fellows stripped, and separated by a cloth partition, each got in and let on the hot water at the word—the wager being as to who could stay in the longest with the hot water runinng. Smith drew up his feet as far as possible from the boiling stream, while Brown pulled out the plug in the bottom of his tub. After about half a minute, quoth Smith;

"How is it Brown—pretty warm?"

"Yes," says the other, "it's getting almignty hot, but I guess I can hold out a minute yet."

"So can I," answered Smith, "Scis-s-!—lightnin'!—it's awful!"

Fifteen seconds, equal to half an hour by Smith's imaginary watch:

"I say, over there—how's it now?"

"Oh, it's nearly up to the bilin' p'int—whew!—Christopher!" answered the diabolical villian, who was lying in the empty tub, while the hot water passed out of the 'scape pipe.

By this time Smith was splurging about like a boiled lobster, and called again:

"I s-a-y, over there—how's it now?"

"Hot as the devil!" replied Brown; but—whew! sciss-ss!—guess I can hold out another minute."

"The hell's fire you can!" shrieked the now boiling Smith, who rolled out and bolted through the partition, expecting to find the other quite cooked.

"You infernal rascal! why didn't you put the plug in?"

"Why, I didn't agree to," said the imperturable joker; "why'n thunder didn't you leave your's out?"

ARRANGED NICELY.—A couple recently, at a late hour of the night, presented themselves before a magistrate in one of the towns of Wisconsin, and asked to be married. The young lady, feeling some explanation was necessary for the abruptness and lateness of the call, innocently remarked: "we came to town to attend the fair, but as the taverns were all full and Aleck could'nt get a bed, we concluded to get married so he could sleep with me."—This was certainly a very nice arrangement. The Lady showed judgment and discrimination, and Aleck an enlightened spirit of martyrdom.

BEAUTIFUL METAPHOR.—The comparison of life to a transit across a desert, is very felicitously expressed in the following lines from Charles Wesley;

Here in the body pent,
Absent from Heaven I roam;
Yet nightly pitch my moving tent
A day's march nearer home."

...."Tommy, my son, what are you doing with your feet dangling in the water?"

"Trying to catch cold, ma, so that I may have some more of those cough lozengers you gave me yesterday."

TIGHT TRAGEDIAN.—A drunken actor was appealed to keep sober, "for the sake of his wife." The inebriate struck an attitude and said: "Not that I love Sarah less, but Rum more!"

....A sentimental chap intends to petition Congress for a grant to improve the 'channels of affection, so that henceforth the course of true love may run smooth.

WANTED.--A Situation, by a young man, of steady and industrious habits; is a good Penman and Accountant. Address "A. M." Mariposa P. O. d4

SCHOOL NOTICE.

Mrs. E. A. Rusk will Teach a Select School at her residence, Mariposa, commencing Dec. 31st, 1860. Needle and Hair-Work taught if desired.

Mariposa, Dec. 18, 1860.

Religious Notice--The Funeral Sermon of Col. J. S. Watts, deceased, formerly of this place, will be preached in the M. E. Church, South, next Sabbath, Dec. 30th, at 11 o'clock, A. M., by Rev. Mr Yager, of Contra Costa.

Mariposa, Dec. 25th 1860.

Our Patrons who are in arrears with the Mariposa Gazette, for Advertising, Subscriptions, or for Job Work, will confer a favor by coming forward and settling their accounts on or before the expiration of the present year. It is customary with persons doing business, to make a settlement with their creditors before the commencement of the New Year, and as we have some debts which must be settled by that time, our delinquents will see the necessity of paying up immediately. We have many names on our subscription book of persons who have been taking the paper for two and three years, during which time we have not received a farthing in return for it They probably think that five or ten dollars is of little consequence; but to the proprietor of a paper, it is a big item, which he cannot afford to throw away. The duties of an editor are not so pleasant as many imagine, and as we have labored long and earnestly in making our paper acceptable to the community—furnishing the latest Atlantic news and current events of the State and county —they should pay for it without further notice.— We don't wish to be severe with our friends, and ample time is given them to call and liquidate; but if arrearages are not settled at the time above stated, their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer for collection.

Professor davenport.—We referred briefly in our last number to this individual—whose title is the largest part of him. Although our allusion to him was in no way personal, he deemed it proper to turn aside from the delivery of a stolen lecture to give us a thrust, and made some reference to Webster's spelling book, which, judging from the written chart he gave those whose heads he pretended to examine, we conclude he has just commenced to study. We are sorry we offended the Professor—especially as we think he is some pumpkins—at least his cabesa is. Of his lectures on Phrenology and Spiritualism, we have nothing to say; although we have no doubt but "Artemus Ward, Jr.," would be pleased to enter into a partnership with one so well versed in these affairs; and perhaps, like Artemus, he might find, in some more appreciative place, a perfect "affinity." The Profess has departed from this place, probably fearing that the present prevailing frosts of the mountains—and which have already caused much vegetable matter to wither—might have an effect on him. It was a wise act.

The Professor, at the supper table at the Union House, amused those present by relating his various conquests. One of which was that some months ago, when traveling through the interior of Oregon, he met a lone woman, and after making some inquiry as to the proper roads, &c., offered her two bits for a kiss, which she accepted. He then told her that she could buy candy enough for the two bits to last her several days. But the woman replied that she thought the best investment she could make of the money was to give it back to him for another kiss. There was considerable anxiety felt by those at the table to know what sort of a female could exhibit such taste—but, their feelings were quieted by some afterwards suggesting that it was no more nor less than an old dirty squaw!

On Friday last, a Chinaman was killed on Bear Creek, about five miles from this place, by Mr. Geo. Stewart, Deputy Collector of Foreign Taxes.— The particulars, as near as we can learn, are as follows: Messrs. Nelson and Stewart, Collectors, entered a Chinaman's camp for the purpose of collecting taxes. The Johns, there being two, refused to pay, and one of them picked up a rifle, with the intention of shooting. Mr. Nelson seized the gun, and after a short struggle, wrenched it from his grasp. Both Chinamen then fell upon Stewart, who, after drawing his pistol, struck the Chinamen several blows over the head with it. But they still clung to him, and each having a hold on his pistol, he told them desist or he would shoot. They paid no attention to him, and in order to rid himself from their grasp, he was compelled to shoot one. The ball entered the breast, killing him almost instantly.

Mr. Stewart came in and surrendered himself to the authorities, and after an investigation before Justice Washburn, was discharged.

Next Sunday is set apart for the Funeral Sermon of Col. Watts, who it will be remembered died very suddenly of appoplexy, in August last. Col. W. was one of our oldest and most esteemed citizens, and his sudden demise cast a gloom over the community that will not be soon forgotten. The Sermon will be preached by Rev. Neil Yager, a relative of deceased, who is well acquainted with the public and private events of the veteran's life. Go all who can and hear it.

The Ball at the Oso House, Bear valley, comes off to night. Extensive preparations have been made by Mr. Bates, for a large party, and we hope it will be well attended.

Let all now go, who never went before;
Let all who dance, now dance the more.

Shooting for Turkys commenced yesterday and will continue up to this evening. The birds are in excellent order, having been under the direct care of Messrs. Bachman and Phillips, who have not been sparing of funds in giving them the best the market affords.

The Festival held at Concert Hall last Friday night, for the benefit of the Methodist Churches of Mariposa, was very fully attended by the ladies and gentlemen in and about the town. It was an interesting affair, was a perfect success, everything passed off pleasantly. About $170 was raised, above expenses.

The following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing Masonic year, on Saturday evening, Dec 22nd, 1860, viz: Samuel A. Merritt, W. M.; Julius Dettelbach, S. W.; Joseph Marshall, J. W.; Louis Koster, Treasurer; John R. Norris, Secretary; Hugh Davanay, S. D.; Andrew Jackson, J. W.; C. G. Lind and Joseph Lind, Stewards; R. D. Ailkema, Tyler.

Almanac for 1861--Mr. W. C. Hill, the enterprising Newspaper Agent in this place, presented us with an Almanac for 1861. It is illustrated with California scenes, and is useful for reference to California events, from the gold discovery to the present time. Published by himself and for sale at his counter, Main street, Mariposa.

Reynold's Soiree, on Saturday evening last, was the finest social party that has taken place for some time here. The music was excellent—guitar, fiddle and piano; beautiful faces, bright eyes, and forms encircled with plaids, de laines and silksf whirled through the mazes of the dance until the near approach of Sabbath, when all retired to their homes.

The Party advertised to take place in Concert Hall this evening, (Christmas) has been postponed until New Year's evening, in order to give all, who wish to attend the Bear Valley Ball, a chance of doing so.

Sunday morning last, Mariposa and surroundings had the appearance of some of the Northern States in mid-winter. Snow fell during the night to the depth of three or four inches, giving everything a bleak and desolate appearance.

President's Message.

On account of the great length of this document and the crowded state of our columns, we give but a brief synopsis of its contents. The main points of the Message, touching the leading questions of the day, will be eagerly read:

Since the last meeting of Congress, health and plenty has blessed the land, and no nation in the tide of time, has enjoyed greater material prosperity than we have done until a very recent period. But the long continued and intemperate interference of the people of the North, has at length produced its natural effects. The discontents in the South does not arise solely from the claim on the part of Congress, or of the Territorial Legislatures, to exclude slavery from the Territor'es, nor from the opposition to the Fugitive Slave Law, all these might have been endured by the South, but the immediate peril does not arise from these causes so much as from the fact that the "Violent attacks of the slavery question throughout the North for the last quarter of a century, has at length produced its malign influence on slaves, and inspired them with notions of freedom." Hence security no longer exists around the family altar. This state of things cannot be long continued with safety to the Union. Harmony and peace can be restored, but there is but one way to do it, and that way is, for the people of the South to be let alone with their institutions, which the North have no more right to interfere with than with similar institutions in Russia or Brazil.

The election, in a constitutional manner, of any man, is not sufficient cause for a dissolution of the Union. From the very nature of his office, and its high responsibilities, he must necessarily be conservative. It is not likely that the present Congress or the next, will pass any law infringing on the rights of the South. No such law ever has been passed by Congress, except, perhaps, the Missouri Compromise. Let not the evil then be anticipated. "Sufficient unto the day, is the evil thereof." The tear of future danger is not a sufficient cause for immediate dissolution.

The Supreme Court has decided that a Territorial Legislature cannot exclude slave property from a Territory, and although this decision has been impugned, yet it has not been successfully disregarded.

Certain laws have been passed in several of the States to defeat the Fugitive Slave Law. It ought to be remembered, however, that for these acts neither Congress nor any President can be justly held responsible, having been passed in violation of the Federal Constitution. They are, therefore, null and void. All the courts, both State and National, before whom the question has arisen, have from the beginning declared the Fugitive Slave Law to be Constitutional. It will be the duty of the next President, as it has been my own, to act with vigor in executing this supreme law against the conflicting State laws. But are we to presume that my successor will not perform t is duty? This would be a war with every principle of justice, or Christian charity. Let us wait for the overt act. The Fugitive Slave Law has been carried into execution in every contested case since the commencement of this Administration, though often with great loss and inconvenience, and with considerable expence to the Government. Let us trust that the State Legislatures will repeal their unconstitutional and obnoxious enactments, unless this shall be done, without unnecessary delay, it is impossible for any human power to save the Union.

If the Constitutional rights of the South shall be invaded and the wrong is willfully persisted in by any other portion of the Union, and after the injured States have used all peaceful and Constitutiona means to obtain redress, if it be still denied them, they would be justified in revolutionary resistance to the Government of the Union.

But it has been held that any State may at its own will and pleasure, secede from the Union. This is in conflict with the history of the formation of the Government, and would make the Confederacy but a rope of sand. Any adverse breeze of popular opinion might carry one State after another out of the Union, until this Government, which cost our forefathers so much toil, privation and blood to establish, would be torn to fragments. No, this Union was intended to be a perpetuity; its framers never intended to plant in its bosom the seeds of its own destruction; nor was it intended by its framers to be the "Baseless fabric of a vision," which by the touch of the enchanter, would "Vanish into thin air"—but a mighty fabric, capable of defying the storms of ages.

But while this is so, it cannot be denied, that when a government becomes too oppressive to be endured, the right of resistance is not denied. Secession is nothing more nor less than revolution. The question is, whether it is justinable? The Executive is bound to see the laws enforced through the officers and courts; but in South Carolina all our officers have resigned. The criminal law cannot be enforced there, without further legislation. I leave it with Congress.

The Customs are still collected, and will be. The officers in charge of the Forts and Arsenals in that State, have been ordered to act on the defensive, should any attempt be made to take them. I have no power to acknowledge the independence of a State; the whole question is submitted to Congress.

I doubt the power, and also the policy of Congress declaring war against a State. This dangerous question might be avoided, by amending the Constitution, first by an explicit recognition of the right of property in slaves in the States where slavery now exists, or may hereafter exist. Second, the duty of protecting this right in all the common Territories, until they are admitted as States.

With all Foreign Powers we remain at peace, with Spain and Mexico our affairs are complicated, but it is hoped may be adjusted with honor and satisfaction to all parties concerned.

$62,000,000 is amply sufficient to administer the Government, and to pay the interest on the public debt.

There have been no Africans landed in the United States during the last year.

The Pacific Railroad is again urgently recommended to the early attention of Congress.

Uniform and early elections of members of Congress are recommended.

Specific duties on imports recommended in lieu of ad valorum duties in some cases.

Attention of Congress is directed to the Mails to California, and to the starving condition of Kansas.

The Position of John C. Breckinridge.

There appears to be considerable interest manifest by a portion of the press to know the views of Mr. Breckinridge in relation to the present crisis. Some of them go so far as to declare that the Lexington, (Ky.) Statesman, a Democratic journal, published at the home of Mr. Breckinridge, and his enthusiastic supporter during the late Presidential contest, has defined his position in the following editorial remarks:

"There is as yet no just cause for revolution or dissolution. The Union commands our cordial allegiance; to it we shall be loyal until its basis, the Constitution, has been actually destroyed. Kentucky will not surrender the Union. Our people are as gallant and spirited defenders of their rights, and as little disposed to submit to wrong and dishonor as any men who tread the soil of America. They will not permit themselves to be degraded, nor their rights invaded; but they do not believe the time has come for revolution, and will yet cling to the Union with the devotion of the true sons of '76.

"To our Southern friends we would earnestly appeal to await the full development of Lincoln's policy before striking the fatal blow to the Union. Kentucky is a border State, and, as such, the first and greatest sufferer by abolition ascendency. Our State is a barrier of protection to the Cotton States against anti-slavery aggressions. Our friends in the South can certainly bear the administration of Lincoln as long as we can. Then, let them heed the voice of Kentucky, stand true to the Union and not exhaust all hope of yet maintaining the Constitution. The Democracy of Kentucky, those men who, in the support of Mr. Breckinridge, have given earnest of their fidelity to the rights of the South will appeal to the South to give up whatever movements are now in contemplation, and like patriots, uphold the Constitution and the Union. Do this, and all may yet be well."

The official vote of Ohio, since received, may be added as follows: Lincoln, 231,610; Douglas, 187,230; Bell, 12,197; Breckinridge, 11,405; and Gerrit Smith, 119; giving Lincoln over the next highest candidate, 44,380, and a clear majority over all of 20,500. Fillmore got the State four years ago by 16,500. Fillmore received over 28,000 votes.

The Montgomery Advertiser has been furnished by the Secretary of State with the official returns of the late election in Alabama. Breckinridge received 48,831 votes; Bell, 27,866; Douglas 13,646, making Breckinridge's majority over both 7,319.

The official returns of the Presidential election in Vermont have been declared as follows:

Lincoln 33,888
Douglas 8,748
Breckinridge 1,859
Bell 217
Lincoln's majority over Douglas 25,140
Lincoln's majority over all 23,024

St. Louis, December 7—9 P. M.

Proceedings in Congress.--In the Senate on the 4th, Mr. Clingman, of North Carolina, on a motion to have the message published, said it fell short of investigating the crisis. The President elected was a dangerous man. He did not think the Cotton States acted precipitatedly, and believed that a number of them would secede in sixty days. He believed that Congress could divide the public property as fairly as possible, after paying the debts.

Mr. Crittenden hoped that the example of the gentleman would not be followed. He hoped there would be no angry debates. The Union was worth great sacrifices and concessions. North Carolina alone carried the olive branch of peace.

Mr. Clingman hoped the gentleman would preserve the Union, but when the Union ceases to protect North Carolina, she would bid good-bye to it.

In the House of Representatives, on the 4th, Mr. Sherman moved a reference of the Message to a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Boteler offered, as an amendment, that so much of it as relates to the condition of the country should be referred to a Special Committee of one from each State, which was finally carried.

Mr. Boteler declined to serve, and upon the calling of the roll several members from Mississippi, Georgia and Louisiana, declined voting, because Conventions had been called in their States.

Mr. Mills of South Carolina declined, because his State was out of the Union. Except as a mere form, the delegation felt no interest in the question.

Mr. Morris of Illinois offered a resolution of unalterable attachment to the Union, and stating that there was no cause, from the election of Lincoln or other sources, for dissolution.

In the Senate, on the 5th, Col. Baker's credentials were presented.

The President's Message, Mr. Hale said, failed to look the secession movement in the face.

Mr. Brown said, if the North will go right, we will go left—vice versa.

Mr. Iverson said that five States would go out of the Union before the 4th of March; peaceably if they can, forcibly if we must. He denounced the refusal of the Governor of Texas to call the Legislature as a stain on the "Lone Star;" yet the public sentiment was strong enough to override the Governor if he will not yield. Some Texan Brutus will arise to rid the country of this hoary-headed Cæsar. [Great sensation.] He said there would be no war, as such a far-seeing statesman as Seward will see the fatuity of such a proceeding; but if it comes, we will welcome the Senator from New Hampshire, and all his myrmidons of Abolitionits, with "bloody hands to hospitable graves."

Mr Wigfall hought the President would precipitate the measure he intended to avoid.

Mr. Salisbury said Delaware would be the last State in the Union to countenance secession.

In the House on the 5th, Mr. Sherman reported several appropriation bills.

A motion of Mr. Grow's, to reconsider the vote by which the Homestead Bill was lost last session, was referred to a Committee, and under operation of previous question, was passed, by 136 against 76. This bills avoids prominent objections of the veto.

In the Senate, on the 6th, Latham presented a memorial from the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco, for a daily Overland Mail of the entire letter mail by Pony schedule time, divided between Southern and Central routes. Laid over.

Mr. Powell introduced instructions relative to the settlement of sectional differences. Laid over.

Adjourned until Monday the 10th December.

In the House of Representatives, on the 6th, a committee was appointed on Boteler's resolution to consider the questions connected with the perilous condition of the country, consisting of: Corwin of Ohio, Chapman Wilson of Virginia, Adams of Massachusetts, Winslow of North Carolina, Humphries of New York, Boyce of South Carolina, Campbell of Pennsylvania, Love of Georgia, Terry of Connecticut, Davis of Indiana, Robinson of Rhode Island, Whaterly of Delaware, Tappan of New Hampshire, Stratton of New Jersey, Bristow of Kentucky, Morris of Vermont, Wilson of Tennessee, Dunn of Indiana, Taylor of Louisiana, Davis of Mississippi, Kellogg of Illinois, Houston of Alabama, Morse of Maine, Phelps of Missouri, Rust or Arkansas, Howard of Michigan, Hawkins of Florida, Hamilton of Texas, Washburn of Wisconsin, Curtis of Iowa, Burch of California, Winslow of Minnesota, Stout of Oregon.

Hawkins of Florida, asked to be excused. He scouted the idea of getting up a committee with unanimity for peace, and in a Union-saving manner, believing, as he did, that the time for compromise was past forever.

John Cochrane made a long and patriotic appeal. The gentleman was often interrupted by applause from the gallery, and on a demand from the floor to have the gallery closed. Mr. Hawkins asked for the previous question on his motion to be excused, and amid much confusion, the House adjourned to Monday, 10th December.

Breckinridge electors were chosen in Georgia, on 30th November, by the Legislature.

State Items.

The Supreme court has decided that a constable has no authority to serve a process beyond the limits of the township for which he is elected.

The Butte Record says the contract for digging around South Carolina and floating her over to St. Domingo, has not yet been let.

The News Letter, a new paper, printed in quarto form, in San Francisco, in commenting on the Bulletin's suggestion that "No abler or honester man than Randolph can be found in our borders to assist Lincoln in his Cabinet," makes the following reply: "We believe since the ruffians Crabb and Walker have been shot, a more thorough filibuster than the quandom Secretary of State for Nicaragua, could not be found, if indeed, California desires to be represented by such a 'pirate at Court.'"

David Scannel, was elected Chief Engineer of the fire department in San Francisco.

The Amador Dispatch, formerly Lancha Plana, is now printed in Jackson. We havn't seen Bill's reasons for removing his earthly tabernacle from the Plana country, but we suppose there is more crinoline about Jackson. Success attend it.

The Alta of a recent date is responsible for the following:

A lady on Dupont street, yesterday, lost a pet canary bird, which flew from its cage. It was pursued by the colored servant, who chased the little fugitive along the street for some distance, but whenever she approached it would again take wing and be off in a twinkling. Dinah began to despair, when at last the bird flew against a pillar of a house and thence to the ground. The pursuer had neither handkerchief, bonnet nor shawl, with which to cover the palpitating truant, who was pluming itself for another flight. "The woman who hesitates is lost," says the proverb, and so thought Dinah, whose fertile imagination suggested a plan which was immediately put into execution. She ran to the bird and, spreading out her ample crinoline, squatted down over it, thus forming a sort of cage, whence the canary had, of course, no chance to escape. Dinah settled down like a collossal balloon. Now commenced the delicate operation of feeling for the captive, and after sundry cautious and dexterous manipulations, the bird was secured and brought out from under the crinoline, while the happy Dinah departed amid the applause of the bystanders, with a broad display of ivory and a peal of triumphant cachinnation, showing that though the game was small, it had been well bagged.

The editor of the Yreka Union, if we are to Judge from the following dun, which appears in his paper, is as hard up as some of his cotemporaries:

We don't want to hurt anybody's feelings or get up a row, but may the big dog of Mahomet nip our heels if we don't place the accounts of some of our friends in the hands of Constable Greene unless they come and settle up. Do you suppose, gentlemen, that we can sit up nights, board ourselves, furnish our own candles, wear out our type, use up our paper, pay our hands and waste our ink, all for nothing? What if you did get defeated? It is no more than we expected and just what you deserved; for a man who won't pay the printer never ought to have, and never will get, an office. We are getting our Irish up now, and we will be dropped into a forty foot shaft and let all the old maids in the land roll boulders in on our head, if we don't keep dunning you until you pay up!—We have spoken!

King the miser, according to the S. F. Mirror, is in a peck of trouble. On Saturday night, his room in Barrow's building was entered and robbed, according to his account, of $7,000 worth of jewelry, bonds, certificates, &c. In a fit of desperation, King, next morning, spent two bits for his breakfast.

COLEMAN'S

QUARTZ MILL.

Patented April 3d, 1850.--This Mill, which was on exhibition at the late Mechanics' and Bay District Agricultural Fairs, in the city of San Francisco, and received the First Premiums, and also the highest recommendations from the Committee on Quartz Machinery of said Fairs, and which created so much excitement among those interested in quartz crushing, we are now manufacturing, and are ready to deliver.

By the tests which we have made, it far exceeds our expectations and those of others who have seen it in operation. We are now prepared to guarantee this Mill to grind with three horse power, and, from the small expense incurred in running it, to do it cheaper than by any other known process.

From 3 to 5 Tons of Quartz per Day,

The low price of this Mill, viz: $300, places it within the reach of every Mining Company.

Its weight, complete, is only 950 pounds, and it is so constructed that it can be easily taken apart, so that no piece will exceed 200 pounds in weight, thereby giving it the advantage over all other machines of this kind, in the facility of transportation.

They are now selling rapidly, and all desirous of obtaining them are requested to forward their orders to BIGGS & RUGGLES, Agents,

Mariposa Gazette

The Vast flow of Water into the Ocean.—Some idea of the vast quantity of water that is perpetually flowing into the oceans of the globe is derived from the extent of its chief river basin. The Rhone, for example, drains the waters from an area of 7,000 square miles of country. The Rhine, which has a length of 600 miles by its windings, drains the water from a country of twice that area, and the Danube from 55,000 square miles of surface; but the waters from 300,000 square miles fall into the St. Lawrence, and those from 1,000,000 of square miles into the Mississippi, which, by its windings, has a length of 3,560 miles. It is estimated that one billion eight hundred million tons of water fall daily into the Mediterranean, which, besides the great rivers that fall into it, receives more than twenty secondary rivers, and innumerable smaller streams. More than a fourth of the river water in Europe falls into the Black Sea.

The Donkeys and the Democrats.—We like a good joke, hit where it may. The following is told in the Lafayette, (Ind) Journal:

"A few days since an extra train loaded with jackasses was transported over the Louisville and New Albany Railroad. The telegraph operator at Salem, a boy, set abroad a rumor that a large delegation of Democrats would pass through at a certain hour. Rumor, increasing as it flow, that many eminent orators were aboard, and that bands of music accompanied the expdeition. Immense crowds of enthusiastic Democrats repaired to the depot, hats in hand, ready for the expected cheers. When the train thundered in, an aged and venerable owner of a pair of fabulous ears stuck his head out of the stock car and gave vent to a long, agonizing hewhaw that fairly shook the halls around, consternation seized the crowd, and in two minutes not a democrat was to be seen within a mile of the depot.—Complaint has been made to the Superintendent against the operator, and he is in momentary expectation of a notice to quit."

Who Wants a Safe Paper?—If anybody wants to edit the Vicksburg Sentinel, he may be edified by the following brief history of some of the men who have figured in that position: Dr. James Hagan took hold in 1837, had a number of street fights, fought a duel with his brother editor of the Whig, and was killed, in 1842 in a street fight by D. W. Adams. His assistant, Isaac C. Partridge, died of yellow fever in 1839. Dr. J. S. Fall, another assistant, had a number of fights, in one of which he was badly wounded. James Ryan, next editor, was killed by R. E. Hammett, of the Whig. Next came Walter Hickey, who had several rows and was repeatedly wounded; he killed Dr Maclin, and was soon after killed himself in Texas. John Lavins, another editor was imprisoned for the violence of his articles. Mr. Jenkins, his successor, was killed in the street by Henry A. Crabb, who perished at the massacre of Cavorca. F. C. Jones succeded Jenkins, but soon afterwards drowned himself.

Jefferson and Secession.—The annexed paragraph was lately quoted by John Minor Botts, at Lynchburg, Va., from the Richmond Enquirer, when edited by Thomas Ritche, and then under the control of the party headed by Mr. Jefferson—and with the whole body of the ablest men of the Democracy in the Union as its contributors and advisers, and when no step was taken by that paper that was not approved by the "Junto:"

"No man, no association of men, no State or set of States, has a right to withdraw itself from the Union of its own accord. The same power which knit us together can unknit. The same power which formed the links of the Union is necessary to dissolve it. The majority of States which formed the Union must consent to the withdrawal of any one branch of it. Until that consent has been obtained, any attempt to dissolve the Union or obstruct the efficacy of its constitutional laws, is treason—treason to all intents and purposes."

An Oratorical Genius.—Upon a certain time an orator, who wished to advocate the construction of a new turnpike road through a section in Virginia, made the following sublime speech:

"May it please your worships, while Europe is convulsed with civil discords, and her empires tremble with internal commotions, and while her astronomers mount the wings of their imagination, and soar through the ethereal world, pursuing their course from star to star and system to system, until they have explored the vast eternity of space—let us direct our attention to a road more immediately in our neighborhood!"

A Duel, which was about to take place at La Grange, between Messrs. Ritchie and Bridge, was prevented by the timely interference of Constable Davis of that place.

JIMMY JONES AND HIS PARROT.

BY THE BARD OF QUINCY HALL

Jimmy Jones, not over prudent,
Had a very prudent wife,
And his conduct, as a husband,
Led to some domestic strife.

Once he bought a pretty parrot,
And an eagle for it paid;
To his home he went rejoicing
O'er the bargain he had made.

"Foolish man!" exclaimed his lady,
"Buying birds to eat our bread!
What on earth could put such nonsense
In your good-for-nothing head?

"I, myself, can do the talking!
You may laugh, 'tis so indeed!
I can talk from night 'till morning,
And no parrot's help I need!

"You are wanting clothes for Sunday,
And the money fooled away
For that squaling, bawling parrot,
For a decent coat would pay."

"Where, my dear?" replied the husband,
"For a sum so very small
Could I buy a coat?" The parrot
Quickly answered; "Quincy Hall!"

"Quincy Hall!" exclaimed the lady,
"Bless my heart! What have I heard?
Mercy on us! Jimmy darling,
Did you hear that cunning bird?"

"Yes, I did," replied the husband,
"And you see the bird is cute;
To Quincy Hall we'll hasten,
And there buy a Sunday suit."

It was bought, and fifteen dollars
On the suit he really saved,
Mrs. Jones, amazed, delighted,
Said, "You've heretofore been shaved!

"But that darling, little parrot
Which gave rise to such a squall,
Turned your steps from other places,
To the famous Quincy Hall.

"You have saved the price of Polly,
On your suit, you plainly see!
And at least, five dollars over,
Which will buy a dress for me!

"Your expenses now for clothing
Will be very, very small,
And we'll make a pet of Polly
For her saying, "Quincy Hall!"

Special Notice.—The Medical and Surgical Institute of Dr. L. J. CZAPKAY, is already secured in a position which places it, as well as its proprietor, far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of Medical science, and they occupy with others, an equally lofty position in the professional.—Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical stars of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equalled him in this country, as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma, and the honorary ad eundem degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for more extended labors, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has bent his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases in which he has become so great an expert that he is now regarded as the LEADER in this branch of his Profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most exclusive journals. The Doctor's offices are at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

Tribute to Merited Worth.

The ingratitude of man to his fellow man is so often met with in life, that testimonials, prompted by finer feelings of the heart, are oases in the life of those who sacrifice their best days in philanthropic devotion to the alleviation of the ills of frail mortality. Empiricism floods the columns of our press with fraudulent and fictitious letters, singing poeans to the worth of their own egotistical charlatanism. Below we append a certificate from a worthy man, who, a brief period since, seemed destined to "shuffle off his mortal coil;" who looked forward to his dissolution with that pleasure which only those weighed down by the heavy hand of disease can. Contrary to hope, the ability of a skilful physician has restored him to his former health. Relieved from his terrible situation, and impelled by gratitude, he makes known his case, and his remedial agent, and his statement is authenticated by a Notary Public. The demands of society imperiously command its publicity, and it is given more to warn the unwary than to sound the praises of a physician, of whom scores of like cases can be cited.

Remarkable Cure of Consumption.

The almost miraculous cure that has been effected in my case, prompts me to impart to those of my fellow creatures who may be suffering from like affliction, the source of relief, with a short description of my case. Several years ago, my health began to fail. I was attacked by general weaknes and debility, which reduced me to the mere shadow of my former self. At that stage I sought medical assistance, and expended large amounts, but without the least beneficial result. That fell destroyer CONSUMPTION, had already seized upon my vitals. I was daily drawing closer to the tomb; my physicians held out no hope of recovery; my strength had wasted, and I was in a state of almost utter prostration. I was informed by my physicians that they could do nothing for me except to smooth my path to the grave when most fortunately, I applied to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, and am now a well and perfectly sound man. It is difficult for me to express the emotions of deepest gratitude I experienced when realizing the immeasurable service I have received at the hands of Dr. Czapkay, and I feel rejoiced that it is at least in my power to tender this feeble recognition of his great skill and capacity. To the afflicted I would say, do not despair, for whatever may be the nature of your case, I am confident that you will find relief by applying to Dr. L. J. Czapkay.

The following Letter,

Which emphatically speaks for itself, was written by the Dean of the Faculty of the Philadelphia College of Medicine, to the editors of the Pacific Medical and Surgical Journal, San Francisco, for publication:

PHILADELPHIA, January 17th, 1859.

To the Editors of the Pacific Medical and Surgical Journal.

GENTLEMEN:—My attention has been called to an article in the December number of your Journal, in regard to the ad eundem degree granted by the Philadelphia College of Medicine to Dr. L. J. Czapkay.—When the application for the degree was made to the Faculty, it was accompanied by affidavits and testimonials to the effect that Dr. Czapkay was a regular graduate M. D. of the University of Pesth, had served as Surgeon in the Hungarian army, and was a regular practitioner of medicine. On the strength of these, the degree was granted. The ad eundem degree, as its name implies, is conferred on graduates only, and gives us new privileges. Had there been the slightest suspicion of irregularity, the application would have been refused. By inserting this in your Journal, you will do an act of justice to the College, and confer a favor on Yours, very respectfully, H. RAND, Dean of the Faculty of the Philadelphia College of Medicine.

Certificate:—I, the undersigned, Governor of Hungary, do testify hereby, that Dr. L. J. Czapkay has served during the contest for Hungarian liberty, as Chief Surgeon in the Hungarian army, with faithful perseverence. Wherof I have given him this certificate, and do recommend him to the sympathy, attention, and protection of all those who are capable of appreciating patriotic self-sacrifice and undeserved misfortue.

KOSSUTH LAJOS, Governor of Hungary

Washington City, January 6, 1852.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

Below we publish the certificates of three of the sufferers from the pangs of disease, who, having recovered their former health, and impelled by gratitude, make known their cases and remedial agent, and their statements are authenticated by a Notary Public. The demands of society imperiously command their publicity, and we commend their perusal to the attention of all afflicted:

THANKFULFESS IS THE INCENTIVE TO GRATITUDE.

CERTIFICATE.

The undersigned, desirous of acquainting those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly afflicted, where a permanent relief of their sufferings may be obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his most sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay for the permanent recovery of his health.—Borne down by the distressing symptoms incident to the vicious practices of uncontrollable passion in youth, depressed in body and mind, unable to perform even the most trifling duty impo.ed by the daily advocations of life, I sought the advice of many physicians, who at first regarded my disease as of trifling importance, but, alas, after a few weeks, and, in several instances, months, of their treatment, I found, to my unutterable horror, that, instead of relief, my symptoms became more alarming in their torture; and being told by one that my disease being principally confined to the brain, medicine would be of little consequence, I despaired of ever re-gaining my health, strength and energy; and, as a last resort, and with but a faint hope, I called upon Dr Czapkay, who, after examining my case, prescribed some medicine, which almost instantly relieved me of the dull pain and dizziness in my head. Encouraged by the result, I resolved to place myself under his care, and, by a strict obedience to all his directions and advice, my head became clear, my ideas collected, the constant pain in my back and groins, the weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction of my whole body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the misanthropy and evil forebodings, the self-distrust and want of confidence in others, the incapability to study, and want of resolution, the frightful, exciting, and, at times, pleasurable dreams by night, followed by involuntary discharges, have all disappeared, and, in fact, in two months after having consulted the Doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which, a short time ago, I contemplated to end with my own hand.

With a view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merits and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience that, once under his care, a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

Card.

Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves a commendation, not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also. About two years ago I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of Epilepsy, which, owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such (as I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning; and, although insensible to the agonies, I yet despised the miseries of my life, and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my miseries. While in this state, and having, previous to my affliction, tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to attempt seeking aid of a physician, and, by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances, and of my inability to reward him for his services, regardless of which, however, he at once undertook my case, and, with the blessing of God, I was once more restored to perfect health. Unable to reward him for the boon which I enjoy at present, and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I consider it due to myself and all afflicted, to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.

San Francisco Advertisements.

[L. S.] MEYER YABLONSKY.

State of California, county of San Francisco, ss.—Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 1st day of August, A. D., 1869.

[L. S.] GILBERT A. GRANT, Notary Public.

A Card.

I, the undersigned, having been under the treatment of Dr. L. J. Czapkay, although unsolicited, feel called upon to give publicity to the efficiency of his treatment, hoping that by doing so I may be instrumental in preventing others from the fearful suffering and misery which I experienced, and which so often result from the pernicious practice of pretenders. My disease has been that of physical and mental debility, which follows in consequence of indiscretions in youth. The agonies which I endured are, perhaps, unnecessary for me to detail, they are known to those who have experienced them. Suffice it to say, that having called the services of Dr. L. J. Czapkay into requisition, all the expectations which I may have formed of him were more than realized. I would therefore recommend Dr. Czapkay to all who may find themselves afflicted with that dreadful malady, my object in so doing being sympathy for suffering humanity, and a heartfelt desire of relieving them.

D. J. DAHLEE, Printer.

State of California, City and County of San Francisco, ss.—On this 31st day of July, A. D., 1856, before me, Wm. C. Jewitt, Notary Public, personally appeared D. J. Dahlee, known to me, who, being duly sworn, did depose and say, that the content of the card herewith signed by him are true.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and affixed my official seal, the day and year first above written.

WM. C. JEWETT,
[L. S.] Notary Public.

J. Czapkay.—His method of curing diseases is new (unknown to others,) and hence the great success. All consultations, by letter or otherwise, free.

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

Which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations and speak in terms of the highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after ten years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfillment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most EXPERIENCED and SKILFUL NURSES in New England, and has been used with neverfailing success in

THOUSANDS OF CASES,

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will relieve almost instantly and overcome convulsions, which if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and SUREST REMEDY in the WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHEA in CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething or from other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints; DO NOT LET YOUR PREJUDICES, NOR THE PREJUDICES OF OTHERS, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Griping in the Bowels, and Wind Colic;

....A Mobile paper says that an inquest was recently held in that city on the body of a man who died from taking an overdose of vegetable pills. On opening the body the interior was found to be one huge cabbage, but dead to its core, from confinement and want of water—a beverage which the patient, unfortunately, never drank. The Jury returned a verdict of "quits." "Quits, gentlemen!" exclaimed the dismayed coroner; "never heard of such a thing. What do you mean?" "Why," replied the foreman, "we find that if the cabbage killed the man, the man most certainly killed the cabbage, and if that ain't quits, blow me!"

....We see by an exchange that the Jimtown Democracy have spoken. The third resolution reads as follows:

THE "DEVIL'S OWN MALIDY."—A popular and widely practicing physician received a letter not long since, calling for his professional services, in the following urgent and unique style:

"HOUNCURED SIR.

"A kase comes before your notis of the most feelin kind. It is a kase of the Diaree in aul its wust.—We place grate confidens on you especially the peuple of these parts I cal on you to kum down as soon as you read the contents of this letthure—by so doin you will do an act of charity to the Diaree, which is the devils own malidy. Pacific Ear Infirmary!

Important to the Deaf & Deaf Dumb!

DR. PILKINGTON,

Late Proprietor of the Institution for the Deaf at St. Louis, Missouri, and Chicago, Illinois,

HAS arrived and may be consulted at the corner of Montgomery and California streets, (Express Building, up stairs) San Francisco. Early attention is desired.

Deafness, Dizziness, Ear Ache, Catarrh, Noise in the Head, and all discharges from the Ear, Mouth or Nostrils, ENTIRELY REMOVED.

A number of years of unremitting attention to diseases of the Ear as a speciality, has enabled him to make many improvements in all that has heretofore known of Aural Medicine and Surgery and to insure such a degree of success as seems almost incredible. A great number of certificates and testimonials can be seen at his office, from many well known citizens in different parts of the Union.—From the afflicted at a distance, a letter of inquiry enclosing a stamp to prepay answer, will receive immediate attention. Direct to

D Pilkington,

The Eyes! The Eyes!

DR. E. H. PARDEE,

OCULIST.—After a protracted blindness of more than five years, DR. PARDEE has made himself thoroughly and scientifically acquainted with all diseases of the Eye, and has now been in practice eight years in San Francisco with a success that cannot be surpassed in any part of the United States; and for proof of this he will substantiate by cases that have been cured by him, after having exhausted the skill of all the eminent Oculists in the cities of Boston, Philadelphia and New York. Dr. P. wholly objects to the use of caustic, blue stone—keeping the patient in a dark room, dieting, blistering, cupping—the blue pill at night and salts in the morning, etc., etc. DR. PARDEE has also been remarkably successful in the treatment of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all pains about the head; and the frequent calls that he has for his Rheumatic mixture from all parts of this coast, with the many testimonials, is positive proof of its efficacy; and to prevent answering many inquiries by letter, he will state that it can be sent to any part of the State or coast, and each bottle will be accompanied with full directions and a receipt for a liniment, magical in its effects over pain, ingredients of which can be procured any where—price, $10. The ARTIFICIAL EYES inserted by Dr. P. have all the natural movements of the real eye, and cannot be detected even by close inspection. Address
